of this sixth, campaign to accept the peace it shall please us to grant, and will fall to the rank of the lesser powers, which it already touched when it accepted the salary of England.

llti . Our advance guard reached Felke yesterday, but found no enemy.

13th, Conegliano:

We are over the Piave. The enemy is retreating and is apparently taking position behind the Tagliamento.

16th, 11.30 P.M., Valvasone:

This morning we reached the Tagliamento, and found Prince Charles with. 16,000 men in line. Serrurier and Bernadotte forced their way over. We captured 8 guns.

17th. The passage of the Tagliamento is auspicious; but the further I advance into Germany, the more troops will be accumulated against me. I can't do everything with 50,000 men.

20th, Palmanova:

We have forced the line of the Isonzo.

21st, Goritz:

Write to Boudet to approve placing on the flag of the 57th demi-brigade: "The terrible 57th demi-brigade, that nothing can stop."

It is easy enough to say to a general, go to Italy, win battles, and sign peace at Vienna. But the doing of it is
